

FOR AS LONG AS IT TAKES.

humanity
& inclusion

We are all connected. That's why we act everywhere in the world, for as long as it takes, to help persons with disabilities and vulnerable populations.

Our team is united by the conviction that every human being deserves safety and dignity. We are taking action and bearing witness in order to respond to their essential needs, improve their living conditions and promote respect for their dignity and fundamental rights.

We are Humanity & Inclusion (HI), formerly Handicap International, an independent and impartial international solidarity organization working in situations of poverty, exclusion, conflict and disaster.

In Morocco, a mother and child rest with others in front of their collapsed house following the earthquake in Tijghicht, in the Atlas Mountains of Morocco. A powerful earthquake measuring 6.8 on the Richter scale struck central Morocco on September 8.

40 years at the side of the most vulnerable

Humanity & Inclusion has intervened in the face of the worst injustices and disasters of the last 40 years. Our teams and our network of allies deploy concrete solutions in collaboration with individuals, their families and communities, as well as drawing on local resources and knowledge.

Three main areas of intervention in over 60 countries worldwide:

Inclusive Development

HI works in the fields of health, education and economic development, with an inclusive approach to people with disabilities.

Humanitarian Action

Emergency intervention in crisis situations (medical, food, psychological, refugees, shelter, etc.), whether natural disasters or armed conflict.

Protecting civilians and reducing armed violence

Explosive ordnance education, mapping of dangerous areas, mine clearance, victim assistance, as well as conflict transformation and advocacy for peace and security.

From Canada

to 60 countries around the world!

FOR AS LONG AS IT TAKES.

Humanity & Inclusion will unveil its new communications campaign in Canada this fall. "For as long as it takes" prompts the general public to question the frenetic pace of current events and the notion of long-term commitment. A disaster doesn't stop at what we see: we need to provide a response over time to help people return to life as normally as possible, strengthen their resilience and contribute to global, sustainable development.

The Khmer Rouge regime in Cambodia, the Rwandan genocide, the tsunami in South-East Asia, the earthquake in Haiti, the war in Syria... For over 40 years, our NGO has been working alongside people with disabilities and vulnerable populations, taking action to meet their essential needs, improve their living conditions and promote respect for their dignity and fundamental rights. Our actions were sometimes deployed in areas on which all eyes were riveted, and in others where exposure in no way reflected the seriousness of the crisis. In this international context of intensifying conflicts and natural disasters, it seems as if one crisis follows another, sometimes forgetting that the consequences for the populations affected are long-lasting.

The campaign, conceived by the Strike agency and filmed by Montreal-based director Olivier Staub, was produced using real-time 3D technology in France, a technology usually used in the video game and film industries. "For as long as it takes" will be deployed in all HI network countries: Belgium, Canada, France, Germany, Luxembourg, Switzerland, the UK and the USA. In Canada, it will be rolled out in various formats for television, print and the Web.
