d. Geopolitical Analysis

Six years after the end of military operations against Islamic State Movement, Iraq continues to experience a protracted humanitarian crisis. Internal displacement, explosive ordnance threats and limited availability of basic services and livelihoods have left 2.5 million people still in need of humanitarian assistance. As of August 2023, there are about 5 million returnees and, over 1 million internally displaced... people\(^1\), most of whom are located in Ninewa, Duhok, Erbil, Sulaymaniyah, Kirkuk and Salah al Din Governorates.

In recent months and following the formation of the new government, the country witnessed a range of reconstruction works focusing on infrastructure reformation and maintenance. The projects are limited to the capital and some large cities, but it is expected to expand to other areas as far as the situation remains stable.

A new constitution forms the basis of the current democratically elected government. But the country is struggling to appease the existing ethnic, religious and cultural divisions. Political divisions contribute to the inability of institutions to develop or deliver services in an equitable way.

Much of the political agenda is enforced by numerous heavily armed auto-protection units. Although formally part of the government, these units are not directly controlled by the country's leadership. Consequently, any disagreement between politicians or their followers is often resolved through fighting outside the political spectrum, further contributing to the instability of the country.

The internal divisions are also exploited by regional countries including Iran, Turkey and Israel to extend their influence or extend the fight against internal opposition groups in their countries. The involvement of many of western countries is linked to the international fight against the Islamic State Movement and the oil and gas exploitation.

The continued impact of climate change is adding to this complexity as previously viable agricultural opportunities are proving more and more difficult. The shortage of water linked to changing weather patterns but also the actions of neighbouring countries to limit the flow of Iraq’s rivers is impacting the daily lives of many Iraqi already.

Summary of HI presence in the country

HI has been working in Iraq since 1991 in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq and Federal Iraq with a valid registration since 2018. During this initial phase, the organization focused on working with representatives from organizations for people with disabilities, and service providers with a particular focus on health structures and national and local authorities to identify practical solutions, meet the specific needs of the most vulnerable persons, and ensure their access to key services. HI has also regularly been running awareness-raising campaigns on the risks associated with landmines and unexploded ordnance and provides support to the victims of explosive hazards.

In June 2014, HI launched an emergency response to the humanitarian crisis affecting the country: providing assistance to the most vulnerable

\(^1\) https://dtm.iom.int/iraq
Syrian refugees living in camps as well as to internally displaced Iraqis.

In 2016, HI launched non-technical survey and clearance mine action activities in the governorates of Kirkuk and Diyala. Due to decades of war and a new wave of violence since 2014, Iraq is one of the most contaminated countries in the world with a high diversity of explosive hazards. This contamination impedes the safe movement and return of civilians and hampers stabilization and economic recovery in these areas.

With the end of the military operations to retake control of the main cities of Iraq from the group Islamic State (IS), the end of 2017 has marked the beginning of the recovery period, in which HI is playing a key role in order to ensure a safer and more inclusive return and reconstruction process. The reconstruction of areas affected by the conflict provides an opportunity to achieve the inclusion of vulnerable populations and people with disabilities and to address physical accessibility in designing or rehabilitating buildings inclusive of people with disabilities.

HI currently aims at:

- Assisting victims of the conflict through physical and functional rehabilitation services, psychosocial and psychological support, transportation and tailored support to access external services, support to health centres including equipment for physiotherapy rooms, training of physiotherapists, provision of assistive devices, training of non-specialized actors on psychosocial support, awareness-raising on the inclusion of persons with disabilities, technical support to external service providers to improve the inclusiveness of their services;
- Carrying out risk awareness sessions and promoting safer behaviour about the impact of explosive ordinances including explosive ordinances, targeting at-risk groups such as children, provision of training to community focal points, supporting creation of community safety committees, safe spaces for children and communities. As for clearance activities, HI performs land release activities on contaminated land through non-technical and technical survey, manual clearance, EOD and spot tasks;
- Enhance awareness of people with disability rights, roles and value of their participation.
